Oxford Guitar Ensemble

The Oxford Guitar Ensemble was established in 2005 to give classical guitarists an opportunity to play and perform with others. The group has since performed in many venues around Oxford, including Somerville Chapel, University College Chapel, St. John's Auditorium, the Jacqueline du Pré Music Building, the Holywell Music Room, Linacre College and New College Chapel, playing a varied repertoire of transcriptions and original compositions for guitar ensemble.

The Oxford Guitar Ensemble recently collaborated with Oxford-based composer Inés Medina-Fernández and played the world premiere of her piece Danza.

The ensemble is currently being conducted by David Hewings (St. John's) and Giles Masters (New College).
